

Morphological evidence for paraphyly of Holopothrips Hood (Thysanoptera: Phlaeothripidae), a Neotropical genus of gall- inducing thrips

Mariana F. Lindner^{a,*}, Augusto Ferrari^{a,b} and Adriano Cavalleri^{a,b}

^aDepartamento de Zoologia, Instituto de Biociências, Universidade Federal do Rio Grande do Sul (UFRGS), Avenida Bento Gonçalves 9500, 91501–970, Porto Alegre, RS, Brazil

^bLaboratório de Entomologia, Sistemática e Biogeografia (LESB), Matéria Zoologia, Instituto de Ciências Biológicas (ICB), Universidade Federal do Rio Grande (FURG),

Avenida Itália, km 8, bairro Carreiros, 96201–900, Rio Grande, RS, Brazil

*Corresponding author, e-mail: mflindner@hotmail.com

Supplementary material

Supplementary Information

File S1. Illustrated character list.

File S2. Matrix D1.

File S3. Matrix D2.

File S4. Matrix D1Con.

File S5. Matrix D2Con.

File S6. EW search script.

File S7. IW search script.

File S8. BEW script.

File S9. BIW script.

File S10. Analysis D1-EW, strict consensus of most parsimonious trees obtained.

File S11. Analysis D1-IW, most parsimonious tree obtained.

File S12. Analysis D2-EW, strict consensus of most parsimonious trees obtained.

File S13. Analysis D2-IW, most parsimonious tree obtained.

File S14. Analysis D1Con-EW, most parsimonious tree obtained.

File S15. Analysis D1Con-IW, most parsimonious tree obtained.

File S16. Analysis D2Con-EW, strict consensus of most parsimonious trees obtained.

File S17. Analysis D2Con-IW, most parsimonious tree obtained.